Where we prepare for tomorrow by achieving today

Dear Year 6 pupils and parents,

I am sorry that I did not get time to say goodbye to you all at the end of last week. However, I just wanted to write and let you all know how amazing you all are what a special Year group you have been to me during your time at Moat Farm. For some of you, I have had the privilege of seeing your family grow when new babies come along or I have got to know Grandparents who have done the school run. In every case, I have enjoyed being with you over a number of years and will hope to see you again when your little ones reach Year 3 - that will fly by! Thank you in particular for all your kind words and encouragement over the years, especially this term which has been the most challenging time in my teaching career. What is so amazing about our school is the extent to

I have so many incredible memories of this Year 6, especially during the last year when I have seen them all grow in confidence and maturity. I know that what ever the future holds they will go and do amazing things and will make everyone who knows them proud.

To Mr Gregory's class – You are all such brilliant role models for everyone in our school! Your reading display is one of the most beautiful I have ever seen and reflects the interest that you have in books and plants. Whenever I go into your class room it feels a calm and happy place because of how polite and kind you are too each other. The work in your books is wonderful. I am always so proud to show your work off when we have visitors to our school. So many of you in this class are talented and creative - your acting skills are superb. I also am so impressed at the interest you have taken in the whole curriculum. There are some budding Historians amongst you. I have enjoyed the time I spent in your classroom and I will not forget that I made a job offer recently to one of you, though sadly by the time you do become a teacher at Moat Farm, I will have long since retired!

To Mr Kettle's class – what an incredible example of Moat Farm values you all are. You achieve well in every area of school life. Your books are incredible and the progress you have all made is truly outstanding. I have spent quite a bit of time with you recently talking about books and reading and I am very sad that we will not be doing that for a while. Please do keep the reading up! Your progress in writing has been particularly pleasing to see. Whenever any visitors come to our school, they are amazed at the quality of what you write, in any subject. The work you have done in DT and in particular Textiles was fantastic and I will remember for a long time the calm scene of you all sewing away brilliantly the week before the Christmas holidays.

To Mr McCormick's class – I love that you come to school so much! Always our best attending class, even in that last week you nearly all came every day! Whenever I come into your class, you are working like bees and your progress and been fantastic. I can feel the concentration when I walk in. Your reading display is so personal to your class and it is wonderful to hear you talk about your learning. Several of you represented our school in the maths tournament and were rightly victorious. I know that for some of you this year under Mr McCormick's teaching, you have really blossomed and started to show what you are truly capable of when you listen and work hard. Please do not lose this as you all have so much potential. You are a class of forceful opinions and want to be heard! Keep that confidence to express yourself clearly. You all have so much that is interesting to listen to.

To Mrs Wilding's class – what amazing progress you have all made! Whenever I come in, you are so keen to show me your work and you shine with enthusiasm about everything. Never lose that joy in your work or that pride in what you do. Your work is always excellent and I know how much you enjoy everything we do in school. Again, you were so impressive in your DT projects and you worked with such attention to detail. Your work in RE has been exceptional and shows the values you all hold as a class of tolerance and respect for others. We need those values more than ever now so hold onto them. They will serve you so well in everything you do.

I cannot quite believe that this may be the end for us being together in school so I shall hold fast to our Moat Farm value of Optimism and trust that we will see each other again before the Summer ends. Please do keep safe. I hope to see you all very soon.

Love and best wishes,

Ms Stone
